

About Girls Talk TV

Girls Talk TV (GT TV) began in 2008 as just an idea. An idea that spawned from the notion of girls gossiping but never really talking about what mattered. Inspired by Angelica Smith (Gigi), Girls Talk TV became that place where girls could explore ideas and talk about them. No matter how taboo or “geeky” a subject, GT TV wants to explore it and bring all girls along for the journey!

GT TV is a network geared towards the empowerment of young women to think on their own without the influence of mainstream media or other other negative and confusing ideas and ideologies. GT TV hopes to bring to young woman current events that are relevant to their world and lifestyle in order to help them create a better life experience for themselves. Questions perhaps never asked of them by parents, teachers or friends...asked. Expectations of them to discover...acknowledged. GT TV embraces an attitude of positivity while maintaining a fresh perspective on life.

GT TV hopes to be something like a virtual mentor. When you tune in to watch GT TV, your host will report news both national and international in an informative and fun way. You will be asked to interact with us by participating in online polls, text messaging us and even leaving voice messages that may later be used for all of our viewers to hear. Whether you are more interested in listening to radio to get your news or watching television, GT TV delivers both forms of information 24/7. More importantly, we want to hear from you because you are our inspiration!
